Hongkong, May 18.—A fleet of a hundred junks loaded with provisions for the Baltic fleet was sighted off St. John island on May 16th.
Sight the Fleet
Singapore, May 18.—The British steamer Hongwan reports sighting the Baltic fleet a hundred and twenty miles northeast of Cape Varella on the morning of May 16th.
Rojstevsky May Be Ill.
Neither the admiralty nor the individual naval officers at home have any information regarding the rumored sickness of Vice Admiral Rojstevsky and his request to be relieved of the command, and all who were questioned regarding the report expressed doubts of its accuracy.
It was pointed out that it would be impracticable for the fleet to delay in the China sea until the arrival of Vice Admiral Bliffett and it was declared that Rojstevsky would keep his flag flying as long as he was not utterly incapacitated for command, which then would naturally devolve on Vice Admiral Voelkersman, who is known as an officer with a Teutonic thoroughness and attention to the line details of his profession. He is also a notable strategist.

Capt. Clado confirmed the statement that the vessels of both squadrons are equipped with apparatus for cleaning the bottoms at sea. He said it was entirely possible for Vice Admiral Nebogoff to put the last finishing

POLAND WILL BENEFIT BY NEW RUSSIAN DECREE

Imperial Rescript Of The Emperor Nicholas
Is Received With Much Pleasure.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
St. Petersburg, May 18.—There is little room for skepticism as to the genuineness of the broad policy of imperial reform after the remarkable steps sanctioned by Emperor Nicholas in the imperial rescript issued Tuesday.
It modifies the restrictive decrees in nine of the western governments of Russia and gives the Poles greater freedom for acquiring farming lands and purchasing landed properties and industrial promises and permission to introduce the Polish and Lithuanian languages in the primary and secondary schools where the majority of the inhabitants are non-Russian.
Almost at one sweep the whole burden of the vexatious restrictive laws in Poland and the Baltic provinces have been removed, and the privileges for which the natives have been fighting for years are restored, the assemblies of the Polish nobles are re-established, and all the harsh administrative measures introduced at the time of the policy of reaction and russification are abolished, unless later for purposes of state they receive imperial sanction.
Peasants May Buy Lands.
As a natural sequence of freedom of religion the oppressive prohibition of the purchase of land by Roman Catholic peasants is abolished. In effect the measures sanctioned amount to an entire reversal of Russian policy in ancient Poland and the Baltic provinces.

RAILROAD DEBATE BECOMING HEATED

Senator Merton Comes From a Sick Bed to Take Part in the Mooted Debate.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, May 18.—One point was decided in the railroad debate this morning, that Commissioner Thomas should not be a member of the commission as proposed by the amendment of Senator McGillivray. McGillivray made a long speech, and as contrary to the constitutional provision that the legislature cannot fill an office created by it, but may only prescribe and direct as to the manner of election or appointment, and the amendment was lost 31 to 1. Senator McGillivray voting alone for it. After debating the Stevens' elective commission amendment, in which Senator Merton, just risen from his sickbed, made a strong speech in favor of the elective commission, the senate took a recess until 2 o'clock. The assembly advanced the medical advertising bill by a vote of 64 to 24.
Madison, Wis., May 18.—The railroad rate commission bill is the chief business before the legislature today, coming up in the senate for ordering to engrossment and third reading.
In anticipation of this event, it was expected that a great debate would be held, but last night there was no apparent indication that serious opposition would develop, of such a nature as to endanger the passage of the measure, although there was considerable activity around the hotels, and a large representation of railroad attorneys was in the city. It was understood that many of these came on hand to land advice in the matter of assisting with amendments rather than to try to defeat the bill.
The measure is almost precisely the same as reported nearly two weeks ago by the unanimous report of the senate committee on railroads and has had only verbal amendments of minor importance. Senator Stevens will make an effort to change the bill so as to provide for an elective rather than an appointive commission, and Senator McGillivray will urge that Railroad Commissioner Thomas be made a member of the new body. It is rumored, but Senator McGillivray denies it, that his activity in this regard is for the purpose of securing some administration support for his architects' license bill and his plans regarding the rebuilding of the capitol. It is said that his position on the rate bill will not develop into antagonism.

PEACE LIKELY IN BIG STRIKE

Samuel Gompers Seems To Be Bringing About A Peaceful Solution Of Trouble.

ARBITRATION NOW AGREED UPON

Team Owners And Teamsters Select Representatives To Decide Questions Of Considerable Importance.

[SPECIAL BY SCRIPTS-M'RAE.]
Chicago, Ill., May 18.—Peace talk is rife in the teamsters' strike today. The arbitration of the questions in dispute between the teamsters and the team owners has been agreed upon, which is the first tangible result so far gained by the peace advocates in the big strike. The teamsters and team owners meet today to appoint delegates to form a board which will arbitrate the question of making deliveries to the boycotted houses.
Gompers Active
President Gompers this morning held a conference with President Shea of the Teamsters' union and B. F. Shanley of the state board of arbitration, at which was discussed a general plan for arbitration. Later in the day Gompers will meet with Attorney Mayer, who represents the employers, to try and find some common ground for a settlement of the general strike issue. Gompers leaves for Dayton, Ohio, this evening.
General Conference
A conference of all concerned in the strike except the labor faction was held this morning in Attorney Mayer's office. Out of this meeting is expected to grow some definite plan which will be laid before Gompers this afternoon. The hearing in the injunctive suits before Master of Chancery Sherman was postponed today owing to the absence of the attorneys at the peace conference.
Shea Defiant
Cornelius Shea, president of the Teamsters' union, was called as a witness before Master of Chancery Sherman today and took advantage of his privilege to refuse to answer all questions concerning his connection with the strike. He declined to answer all the leading questions on the ground it might incriminate him. In an interview Shea said the strikers would not agree to any ruling by the board of arbitration which requires them to deliver goods to the boycotted firms. This statement is regarded as another stumbling-block in the path of an amicable adjustment of the strike. A hundred more strike-breakers arrived in Chicago today.
Discuse Cause of Strike.
Mr. Gompers and George W. Perkins met Levy Mayer and Clarence S. Darrow at the Chicago Athletic club last night by appointment and discussed numerous phases of the strike. The conference lasted until midnight, and at its close Mr. Gompers said that nothing definite had been accomplished, but that another conference would be held to-day.
"We simply discussed the causes leading up to the present industrial conflict," said Mr. Gompers, "but no terms of settlement were spoken of. It was simply a preliminary conference. I cannot say whether I expect results when we meet again or not. I am hopeful that some way out of the difficulty will be found. About the situation with the team owners I know nothing, as I have not considered that phase of the question."
A conference will be held between Attorney Levy Mayer and the aldermanic committee, which will be the first direct negotiations with the big employers that have been held in two weeks. The team owners, however, hold the key to the situation, and it is from that source that peace is expected to come.
Shea Acts With Gompers.
President Shea pretended not to be in sympathy with the peace moves being made by Mr. Gompers, but it is said there is an understanding between them. To a group of reporters President Shea said that Mr. Gompers could not "butt in" on the teamsters' affairs. "Gompers may know how to make cigars," said Shea, "but he knows nothing about driving a team. He cannot interfere in our game."
Mayor Dunne was in a cheerful mood after the visit of Mr. Gompers. He declared that there were definite signs of peace, and that violence had

HAD IT OUT WITH CITY'S MARSHAL

HELMET MATTER ENDED IN A SERIOUS CLIMAX

AT THE COUNCIL CHAMBER

Motion Was Introduced Last Evening to Vacate the Office of the Chief—Lost by a 6 to 4 Vote.

Wrath of the councilmen, becoming more and more intensified as time went on and the order to the police regarding the white helmets continued to be disregarded, culminated last evening in an effort to declare the office of city marshal vacant. The meeting was called by Mayor Hutchinson at 8:45 p. m. for the ostensible purpose of transacting general business. The nature of this business was revealed when the mayor called upon Alderman Murray to state the object of the session. The chief of police had not obeyed the rules of the council regarding the white helmets and this meeting was called to find out why he has not done so. Alderman Jackman inquired if Marshal Comstock was in the building and upon the mayor's statement that there would be no objections to hearing from him a messenger hastened to serve the summons. Upon his appearance in the chamber Alderman Dulin immediately took the floor.

Who Destroyed the Helmets
Ald. Dulin: "I'd like to ask who destroyed those caps Monday evening?"

Marshal Comstock: "I don't know that any were destroyed Monday evening."

Ald. Dulin: "I understand those caps were in the police station at eight o'clock when I came to the council meeting and that Tuesday morning they were burned up. I'd like to know who burned them?"

Marshal Comstock: "To satisfy the gentleman I'll take the credit of burning them myself."

Ald. Dulin: "I'd like to ask why you took the pains that evening?"

Marshal Comstock: "I thought they'd laid around there long enough."

Ald. Dulin: "It looks to me as if they were done away with after the council made the rule that they should be worn until the new ones came."

Marshal Comstock: "You are mistaken. That was not the purpose. If they were there now I wouldn't wear them. I don't think anybody would ask us to wear them. They were moth-eaten—had been stored in an old stable. The fire department had a meeting and sent them over as a joke on the police department."

Ald. Dulin: "I'll state it was no joke of the council when they voted that order."

Marshal Comstock: "I wasn't taking that up."

Injustice to City Clerk
Ald. Sheridan: "I'd like to ask the chief if he ever ordered the police to wear them?"

Marshal Comstock: "I never ordered them to wear those fire police hats. We've ordered helmets."

Ald. Jackman: "Wasn't there a notice to serve?"

City Clerk Badger: "The notice that was ordered served related to the other measure passed regarding the rendering of an accounting of fees."

Mayor Hutchinson: "If I understand the rules it's the duty of the clerk to notify any officer when a measure affecting him is passed."

City Clerk Badger: "Ald. Connell can tell. He was in the room when it was done."

(Dense silence on the part of Alderman Connell. City Clerk Badger stated after the meeting that he visited the city marshal's office immediately after the last session of the council and informed Marshal Comstock of the order in the presence of Ald. Connell.)

Ald. Murray: "As the marshal hasn't complied with the orders of the council I move that the office be declared vacant."

Ald. Sheridan: "I second the motion."

Ald. Connell: "I call for the ayes and noes."

Ald. Hager: "Before we vote I'd like to know if that's the only charge?"

Ald. Murray: "I'd like to say that he has neglected his duty in not notifying his officers to wear the white helmets. As I understand it, he hasn't done so."

Ald. Baumann: "Before the motion is put I'd like to know if we have all the facts?"

Ald. Merritt: "Has either of two officers said that he didn't give a notice for the council and utterly refused to wear these helmets?"

Marshal Comstock: "No sir—The next morning an order with a Philadelphia firm was placed at Ford's."

Ald. Baumann: "They ought to have been here long ago."

Ald. Merritt: "They were ordered ten days ago Ford told me today."

Ald. Murray: "I've investigated. Fanning and Benke told me they were never requested to wear white helmets."

No Intent to Disregard
Ald. Clerk: "If I understand right, the city clerk should have notified the marshal. It doesn't seem possible that he could be expected to take his orders by hearsay. I was relying on hearsay to some extent when I introduced the order at the last meeting. It should not be done. I don't know that any officer ever said: 'To — with the helmets.' If the marshal hasn't been notified I don't think he's to blame—not but what I made the motion for them to wear those helmets. I want to see the thing straightened out in the best way possible."

Marshal Comstock: "I'd like to say this for the patrolmen—I don't think the council could make any order that is legitimate and right but what they would respond, and the same applies to myself."

Ald. Dulin: "It seems that about seven weeks ago the police were ordered to get helmets. It was the chief's duty to get them at once. I don't see any excuse for the delay."

JUDGE CLELAND OUT IN OREGON

JANESVILLE MAN AN OFFICER OF THE WISCONSIN SOCIETY.

LETTER FROM THE PACIFIC

W. E. Brindley, a Former Wisconsin Editor, Writes From Portland of the Badgers.

Portland, Oregon, May 12, 1905.

To the Editor: They tell me that there are 15,000 Wisconsin people now living in Oregon, and I believe it. I have met nearly that many since coming to Oregon six months ago. I first went to Astoria, and found C. I. Abernethy, once a stalwart footballer for the university. He is assistant district attorney of the town, has a large law practice and is coach of a local football team. "Aber" told me of dozens of former Wisconsin people living in Oregon, and I have met many of them, all prosperous, happy, and ever loyal to Wisconsin. In the fall, every man I met asked me how the state election was coming out. I began to think I was quite a prophet, and recalled the adage: "Oregon has about half a million population now—one-fourth the population of Wisconsin—and has resources to support twenty million people. I am told. Portland, with 140,000 inhabitants, is more than ten times as large as any other town in the state, but there are a number of cities as large as Menominee, Manitowish, or Merrill, and any number of villages. They tell me that over in Eastern Oregon, where railroads are not numerous, the country is rather wild, but that I have seen of it is tame enough. Portland is a live town, and a good town. The downtown part, the streets are wider and cleaner. The city is growing very rapidly, and new houses are going up all over town. A downtown corner recently brought $36,000, which seemed large money to me, but a real estate man told me that it was a "good buy." The people here have absolute confidence in the town, and expect it to keep on growing forever. They probably are right, for the city has an excellent freshwater harbor, distant about 100 miles from the ocean, and its water connections, by the Willamette and Columbia rivers, will be forever a regulator of freight rates.

Portland is situated on the Willamette River, twelve miles from the junction of that stream with the Columbia. The latter stream, from the place where it joins the Willamette to the mouth, is larger than the Mississippi, and discharges more water. From the junction to the Dalles, another hundred miles, the stream is narrower than the Mississippi, but is deeper, and has only one channel. On either side of the river there are steep hills, with mountains rising in the distance, and the trip up the river is a beautiful one.

This morning I examined a big wall map and found that Portland is in the same latitude as Rhinecland; and yet last winter there were only a few days when the thermometer registered freezing weather, and these days the cold Wisconsin people do when the tears run down their cheeks and icicles hang from their chins. One man actually claimed that he had an ear frozen, but he failed to show proofs. It snowed twice, and the oldest inhabitants wondered, while the newcomers celebrated by charging $5 an hour for sleighs.

I have been disappointed in only one thing since coming out here. I have found that the stories about Oregon being a land of agricultural plenty, where any man may make a decent living, and any industrious man may get rich, are literally true, but the stories of the rainfall are exaggerations. Of course it rains, and sometimes it rains several times a week; but the normal weather is like our Indian summer in Wisconsin. Oregon people claim that the rain is really not wet. It is a fact, though, that there are no storms, and the rain appears to be healthful, for the only period of grip we had last winter was during a spell of dry weather. No one ever gives up going anywhere on account of the rain, and the water paddle around in the wet and like it.

Just now the weather is ideal, and everything is growing like corn in August. Portland is called the Rose City, and it deserves its name. There are literally millions of roses in bloom now. Rose bushes grow to the tops of the houses, and each is gay with blossoms.

Portland people are very enthusiastic about the Lewis & Clark Exposition, which will be held from July 1 to October 15. It will not be stupendously large as compared with the expositions held at Chicago and St. Louis, but it will be plenty big enough, and there will be much to see at it that could not be seen at earlier expositions. The Fair site is wonderfully attractive, the exhibit places being situated among the trees at the crest of a slope which leads to Guild's Lake, a body of water 220 acres in extent which is enclosed within the exposition fence. A peninsula of fifty acres juts out into the lake from the opposite shore, and on this are situated the five magnificent government buildings. Uncle Sam will spend $500,000 on the Fair. In the distance four snow-capped mountains, Hood, Rainier, Adams and St. Helens, may be seen on any clear day.

There are ten exhibit palaces, all long since completed, and all now jammed with exhibits which will be installed before opening day, and twelve state pavilions, most of which are finished. Every state in the Pacific Northwest is represented in a generous and comprehensive way, and Oregon will spend nearly half a million dollars on the Fair. The exhibits from the Pacific Northwest are particularly interesting as showing in a clear and attractive way the resources of a part of the United States that most of us always have wanted to see.

We Wisconsin people out here are figuring on a big family reunion this summer during the fair. Some weeks ago, following the example of other states, the former Wisconsin residents now living in Portland got together and formed the Wisconsin Society of Oregon. John K. Kollock of Milwaukee was elected president, and the other officers are: F. S. Doernbecker, of Kewaskum, Washington county, vice-president; James S. Hamilton of Cumberland, secretary; and H. L. Powers of Ripon, treasurer. The officers, with Judge John B. Cleland of Janesville, John Lamont of Madison and F. S. Knapp of Ashland, constitute the board of managers.

The officers of the Wisconsin society are attempting to locate every one in the state who is a Badger by birth or bringing-up, so that Wisconsin Fair visitors may be able to find their old neighbors. The society will also look up every one from Wisconsin who registers at the hotels, and will help Wisconsin people to find quarters in the city. The society has co-operated with the other state societies in getting up an information bureau in the Chamber of Commerce building, where Badgers will be welcomed and told what they want to know. The society is looking forward with a great deal of pleasure to the visit of the Wisconsin Press Association in June.

DRILL TEAMS TO TRY FOR PRIZES

WOODMEN FORESTERS ENTERED IN TWO CONTESTS.

AT BELOIT AND MILWAUKEE

Ladies' Team of Royal Neighbors Will Drill at Picnic in Line City.

Drill teams, the Foresters of the Florence camp of the Modern Woodmen and the Lady Foresters of the Crystal Camp of the Royal Neighbors, are preparing for the competitive drills at Beloit on the day of the annual picnic, June 1. The men's team will also enter the contest at the national encampment at Milwaukee in the same month. Both teams are captained by E. C. Jones and he is practicing and drilling them on the various movements regularly.

The Picnic Prizes.
The prizes which have been put up for the drills at Beloit are as follows: Foresters teams—first prize, $100; second, $75; third, $50; fourth, $25, and fifth, $25. Royal Neighbors—first prize, $35 and second, $25. Many besides those belonging to the teams and the majority of the city are planning to attend the celebration. Special rates have been arranged on the railroads and the electric line has secured special trailers for the purpose of transporting the crowds that are expected to go from here and Rockford and intervening points.

Program Arranged.
The program for the day has been arranged and many interesting and varied numbers comprise it. In the morning at 11:25 is the grand parade of drill teams, camps, bands and floats. In the City park at 1:30 the visitors will be welcomed to the city and addresses will be delivered by E. C. Jones, president of the Woodmen organization, A. R. Talbot of Lincoln, Nebraska, and Hon. Charles E. Whelan of Madison, state lecturer for the order. The prize drills for foresters teams, Royal Neighbors teams, and bands will follow and a balloon ascension and parachute drop will be performed by a lady aviator. At 3:30 o'clock there will be trotting and pacing races at the course and two baseball games—a State league fight between Freeport and Beloit, and a contest between the mines of Chicago University and Beloit college.

At National Encampment.
The men's drill team has been entered in the contest at the meeting of the head camp in Milwaukee and will attempt to bring home a portion of the $6,000 that has been divided into various prizes for teams. Entries thus far have been made from the states of Colorado, California, Indiana, Iowa, Illinois, Kansas, Maryland, Montana, Missouri, Michigan, Minnesota, New York, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Ohio, Wisconsin, Washington and Pennsylvania. The Wisconsin entries to date are: Kenosha, Capt. Marland Crocker; Janesville, Capt. E. C. Jones; Merrill, Capt. W. L. Ainsworth; Appleton, Capt. H. W. Krick; Merrill, Capt. Gustave Berg; Racine, Capt. H. W. Jorstad; Madison, Capt. Charles Fell; La Crosse, Capt. F. H. Fowler; Fond du Lac, Capt. L. F. Schrader; Beloit, Capt. C. A. Reynolds. Members of the Neenah, Wis., camp will parade in paper suits made in one of the paper mills of that city. Samples have been made up and proved satisfactory to the committee in charge of the arrangements for the trip.

Personnel of Teams.
The Janesville Foresters' team consists of the following: E. C. Jones, captain; George Barrage, assistant chief; Oscar Mable, George Jones, Charles Gaff, Lynn Whaley, Scott Sutton, Alfred Lobodon, Fred Wood, Frank Voshung, Will Day, Ross Knox, Andrew Anderson, Michael Birmingham, M. T. Connell, J. B. Teboda, L. L. Hilton, and Charles Williams. L. L. Hilton holds the rank of sergeant-major in the battalion composed of the Rockford, Beloit, Janesville and Madison teams.

The Royal Neighbor team, which is captained by Mr. E. C. Jones, is composed of the following: Miss Grace Noble, Miss Nina Haskins, Miss Weiss, Miss Minnie Anderson, Mrs. George Jones, Miss Gertrude Greene, Miss Nina Forrest, Miss Alice Wood, Miss Gertrude Gray, Miss Mary Francis, Miss Anna Taylor, Miss Frances Donnelly, Miss Minnie Donnelly, Miss Beuer, Miss Delfast, and Miss Anna Anderson.

A POPULAR LAMENT.
Where Would Society Be If One Was Judged for the Sins of Others?
"O, I tried one of those hair tonics sometime ago and it never did me a bit of good."
That's what many people are saying today when they refuse Herpicide a trial.

It would be as sensible to say "I never travel on a railroad because I often see collisions mentioned in the papers."
Newbro's Herpicide is specially made to destroy the germ that is living on the roots of your hair.

That is why it is so exceedingly efficacious—it is there for the sole purpose of ridding the hair of this parasitic growth, after which the hair grows as nature intended.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

All Milk Dealers Must Make Out a License and Have Their Herds Tested
Owing to the scare over tuberculosis in cattle, particularly milk cows, the Monroe common council have passed an ordinance requiring all milk vendors in that city to take out a license and also to have their herds examined carefully before being allowed to sell milk. This ordinance is the result of the discovery of tuberculosis in the herd of George Lezler near Argyle recently and the fact that on other farms in the near vicinity. The new ordinance is very comprehensive in its scope and goes into effect June first.

MONROE PASSES A VERY STRICT LAW

High Water Makes Navigation for Steamer Impossible—All Streams Swollen.

Heavy and continued rains, which this section of the country has been experiencing for the past two weeks, have swollen every stream in Wisconsin and northern Illinois. Rock river has again risen after a recession from the spring flood. More water is now coming over the dam than was two weeks ago and the height above that point has made it impossible for the steamer "Columbia" to navigate up stream, the water being just eight inches too high to allow the vessel to pass under the upper railroad bridge. Reports come from about the country that the spring streams have in many places made their appearance again and that at points the river has overflowed its banks.

Portland people are very enthusiastic about the Lewis & Clark Exposition, which will be held from July 1 to October 15. It will not be stupendously large as compared with the expositions held at Chicago and St. Louis, but it will be plenty big enough, and there will be much to see at it that could not be seen at earlier expositions. The Fair site is wonderfully attractive, the exhibit places being situated among the trees at the crest of a slope which leads to Guild's Lake, a body of water 220 acres in extent which is enclosed within the exposition fence. A peninsula of fifty acres juts out into the lake from the opposite shore, and on this are situated the five magnificent government buildings. Uncle Sam will spend $500,000 on the Fair. In the distance four snow-capped mountains, Hood, Rainier, Adams and St. Helens, may be seen on any clear day.

There are ten exhibit palaces, all long since completed, and all now jammed with exhibits which will be installed before opening day, and twelve state pavilions, most of which are finished. Every state in the Pacific Northwest is represented in a generous and comprehensive way, and Oregon will spend nearly half a million dollars on the Fair. The exhibits from the Pacific Northwest are particularly interesting as showing in a clear and attractive way the resources of a part of the United States that most of us always have wanted to see.

We Wisconsin people out here are figuring on a big family reunion this summer during the fair. Some weeks ago, following the example of other states, the former Wisconsin residents now living in Portland got together and formed the Wisconsin Society of Oregon. John K. Kollock of Milwaukee was elected president, and the other officers are: F. S. Doernbecker, of Kewaskum, Washington county, vice-president; James S. Hamilton of Cumberland, secretary; and H. L. Powers of Ripon, treasurer. The officers, with Judge John B. Cleland of Janesville, John Lamont of Madison and F. S. Knapp of Ashland, constitute the board of managers.

The officers of the Wisconsin society are attempting to locate every one in the state who is a Badger by birth or bringing-up, so that Wisconsin Fair visitors may be able to find their old neighbors. The society will also look up every one from Wisconsin who registers at the hotels, and will help Wisconsin people to find quarters in the city. The society has co-operated with the other state societies in getting up an information bureau in the Chamber of Commerce building, where Badgers will be welcomed and told what they want to know. The society is looking forward with a great deal of pleasure to the visit of the Wisconsin Press Association in June.

DRILL TEAMS TO TRY FOR PRIZES

WOODMEN FORESTERS ENTERED IN TWO CONTESTS.

Ladies' Team of Royal Neighbors Will Drill at Picnic in Line City.

Drill teams, the Foresters of the Florence camp of the Modern Woodmen and the Lady Foresters of the Crystal Camp of the Royal Neighbors, are preparing for the competitive drills at Beloit on the day of the annual picnic, June 1. The men's team will also enter the contest at the national encampment at Milwaukee in the same month. Both teams are captained by E. C. Jones and he is practicing and drilling them on the various movements regularly.

The Picnic Prizes.
The prizes which have been put up for the drills at Beloit are as follows: Foresters teams—first prize, $100; second, $75; third, $50; fourth, $25, and fifth, $25. Royal Neighbors—first prize, $35 and second, $25. Many besides those belonging to the teams and the majority of the city are planning to attend the celebration. Special rates have been arranged on the railroads and the electric line has secured special trailers for the purpose of transporting the crowds that are expected to go from here and Rockford and intervening points.

Program Arranged.
The program for the day has been arranged and many interesting and varied numbers comprise it. In the morning at 11:25 is the grand parade of drill teams, camps, bands and floats. In the City park at 1:30 the visitors will be welcomed to the city and addresses will be delivered by E. C. Jones, president of the Woodmen organization, A. R. Talbot of Lincoln, Nebraska, and Hon. Charles E. Whelan of Madison, state lecturer for the order. The prize drills for foresters teams, Royal Neighbors teams, and bands will follow and a balloon ascension and parachute drop will be performed by a lady aviator. At 3:30 o'clock there will be trotting and pacing races at the course and two baseball games—a State league fight between Freeport and Beloit, and a contest between the mines of Chicago University and Beloit college.

At National Encampment.
The men's drill team has been entered in the contest at the meeting of the head camp in Milwaukee and will attempt to bring home a portion of the $6,000 that has been divided into various prizes for teams. Entries thus far have been made from the states of Colorado, California, Indiana, Iowa, Illinois, Kansas, Maryland, Montana, Missouri, Michigan, Minnesota, New York, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Ohio, Wisconsin, Washington and Pennsylvania. The Wisconsin entries to date are: Kenosha, Capt. Marland Crocker; Janesville, Capt. E. C. Jones; Merrill, Capt. W. L. Ainsworth; Appleton, Capt. H. W. Krick; Merrill, Capt. Gustave Berg; Racine, Capt. H. W. Jorstad; Madison, Capt. Charles Fell; La Crosse, Capt. F. H. Fowler; Fond du Lac, Capt. L. F. Schrader; Beloit, Capt. C. A. Reynolds. Members of the Neenah, Wis., camp will parade in paper suits made in one of the paper mills of that city. Samples have been made up and proved satisfactory to the committee in charge of the arrangements for the trip.

Personnel of Teams.
The Janesville Foresters' team consists of the following: E. C. Jones, captain; George Barrage, assistant chief; Oscar Mable, George Jones, Charles Gaff, Lynn Whaley, Scott Sutton, Alfred Lobodon, Fred Wood, Frank Voshung, Will Day, Ross Knox, Andrew Anderson, Michael Birmingham, M. T. Connell, J. B. Teboda, L. L. Hilton, and Charles Williams. L. L. Hilton holds the rank of sergeant-major in the battalion composed of the Rockford, Beloit, Janesville and Madison teams.

The Royal Neighbor team, which is captained by Mr. E. C. Jones, is composed of the following: Miss Grace Noble, Miss Nina Haskins, Miss Weiss, Miss Minnie Anderson, Mrs. George Jones, Miss Gertrude Greene, Miss Nina Forrest, Miss Alice Wood, Miss Gertrude Gray, Miss Mary Francis, Miss Anna Taylor, Miss Frances Donnelly, Miss Minnie Donnelly, Miss Beuer, Miss Delfast, and Miss Anna Anderson.

A POPULAR LAMENT.
Where Would Society Be If One Was Judged for the Sins of Others?
"O, I tried one of those hair tonics sometime ago and it never did me a bit of good."
That's what many people are saying today when they refuse Herpicide a trial.

It would be as sensible to say "I never travel on a railroad because I often see collisions mentioned in the papers."
Newbro's Herpicide is specially made to destroy the germ that is living on the roots of your hair.

That is why it is so exceedingly efficacious—it is there for the sole purpose of ridding the hair of this parasitic growth, after which the hair grows as nature intended.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

All Milk Dealers Must Make Out a License and Have Their Herds Tested
Owing to the scare over tuberculosis in cattle, particularly milk cows, the Monroe common council have passed an ordinance requiring all milk vendors in that city to take out a license and also to have their herds examined carefully before being allowed to sell milk. This ordinance is the result of the discovery of tuberculosis in the herd of George Lezler near Argyle recently and the fact that on other farms in the near vicinity. The new ordinance is very comprehensive in its scope and goes into effect June first.

High Water Makes Navigation for Steamer Impossible—All Streams Swollen.

Heavy and continued rains, which this section of the country has been experiencing for the past two weeks, have swollen every stream in Wisconsin and northern Illinois. Rock river has again risen after a recession from the spring flood. More water is now coming over the dam than was two weeks ago and the height above that point has made it impossible for the steamer "Columbia" to navigate up stream, the water being just eight inches too high to allow the vessel to pass under the upper railroad bridge. Reports come from about the country that the spring streams have in many places made their appearance again and that at points the river has overflowed its banks.

Portland people are very enthusiastic about the Lewis & Clark Exposition, which will be held from July 1 to October 15. RESUME OPERATIONS AT MARZLUFF SHOP

Bolt of Lightning Destroys Motor and Causes Suspension of Work for a Few Days.

Operations Resumed Yesterday

Operations were yesterday resumed at the Marzluff shoe factory after several days' shutdown. During the severe electrical storm of last Friday afternoon a bolt of lightning entered the building on the east side, burning out a fuse on the third floor and practically destroying the motor on the second floor, the power by which the machinery of the shop is run. The flash in the building added to the loud and sharp clap of thunder greatly frightened the entire force and strange to say the bolt entered the building very near a lightning arrester. A new motor was secured from Madison and installed. This is also the slack season of the year, a week or two vacation for the entire force being the usual order at this time and only the cutters and young lady employees in the sewing room commenced labor yesterday. The regular spring deliveries have about been completed and the work now being started at the shops is the rush orders for summer footwear and early fall deliveries. The remainder of the help will resume work within several days.

William Hudson shot and killed his wife at their home at Milton, Ky., and then committed suicide.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century, discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, uric acid, catarrh of the bladder and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work and in private practice, and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper, who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root, and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

The regular one-dollar size bottles are sold by all good druggists. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

MILWAUKEE LIEBED.

A minister by the name of Hare,
who is at the head of the Anti-Saloon
organization, made an attack on Milwaukee in an address at Fond du Lac
last Monday afternoon. He is reported to have said that "Milwaukee leads all cities of the country in brutal offenses and crimes committed under the influence of liquor, and that the city is one of the two worst in the country from a temperance point of view."

The Milwaukee press has taken the reverend gentleman to task for his high statements and furnishes statistics to prove that his claims are false. The "Sentinel" pays its compliments as follows:

"The 'yellow' newspaper is a public nuisance, but there are few that take such publications seriously, and the damage they do is reduced to a minimum; the 'yellow' preacher is a public menace because the title 'reverend,' defined by Webster to mean worthy of reverence; entitled to respect mingled with fear and affection;
generally is taken as a certificate of character. When such a man departs
from the truth, even to advance a cause he believes to be righteous, he
commits an offense against humanity,
against the religion to which he professes to devote his talents and his efforts, and particularly against honest men who differ with him in opinion, and therefore fall under his intolerant, unchristian condemnation."

"The Sentinel has the highest respect for the Christian ministry and for saintly men who devote their lives to the inculcation of Christian virtues and the spread of the belief
in the religion founded upon the lowly, truthful, beautiful life of the Galilean carpenter. But were a layman to publicly libel Milwaukee, hold
it up to contumely and scorn, and
publish his action upon a statement
of alleged facts for which there is no shadow of foundation, there would be no question that the charge of un-
truthfulness would be laid against him
on the instant. The Rev. T. M. Hare
can not expect to cover his offense
with his clerical coat."

Mr. Hare evidently has the weakness which is sometimes charged to preachers. "He is in the community
but not a part of it." He should have discovered ere this that Milwaukee is a German city and that beer is as common in the German home, as is milk in the American home. The German does not get drunk on beer, and
he is too good natured to be a disturber
of the peace.

Milwaukee is a conservative, easy-going, orderly city. The best city for a home in the west. The people take time to live. They go home to dinner and the most of them are in bed before 10 o'clock. Crime is so rare that the newspaper men retire at midnight
and they are seldom disturbed by rows on the street. Mr. Hare will have a better opinion of the Cream
City when he knows more about it.

TEACHERS' SALARIES.
All fair minded people will endorse
the action of the school board in voting to increase teachers' salaries.
The city can afford to pay for talent
in the schools and there is no reason why it should not pay as much as neighboring cities.

While it is true that the market is overstocked with girls who consider it more genial to teach than to engage in other occupations, it is also true
that there is as much difference in teachers as there is in cooks and stenographers.

The public schools are entitled to
the best talent that can be procured,
and money is the one convincing argument. Pay the teachers living salaries and then see that they are competent and there will be no cause for complaint.

STAND BY THE MAYOR.
The Mayor is right on the stand he has taken on repairing the streets. It is a notorious fact that many streets
in the city have been macadamized
at public expense.

An enterprising alderman would succeed in having an order passed to repair a street and then proceeds to rebuild it for half a mile or more.

This would be all right if all of the streets were treated in the same way, but it is all wrong under the system which now prevails.

The residents of streets who have paid heavy assessments for street

improvements during the past few years, have a right to complain.

The Mayor is right in the position
he has taken, and his action will be
heartily endorsed by the taxpayers.

THE LIGHTING QUESTION.

Many people are of the opinion that the council made a mistake in not adopting both gas and electricity for city lighting. It is very true that the Electric Company is composed of business men who have large interests in the city and who are liberal taxpayers, but it is also true that the lighting is for the benefit of the people at large.

That the streets can be better
lighted and at less expense than under the present contract is not an open question. What the people want is the best service that can be obtained for the least money and to this
they are entitled.

THE HELMET QUESTION.

The police department as well as
the council are both at fault on the helmet question. When the former were ordered to appear in uniform the men had no right to rebel. There is no reason why the police force of Janesville should not be uniformed,
the same as the men are in other cities, and it was no hardship to put
this request in the form of a demand,
but when the council attempted to compel the men to wear the cast-off
headgear of the fire police, that was going a step too far.

Better results would have been accomplished by suspending the men
for disobedience. It is understood that the helmets are now ordered and
the men will soon appear in proper uniform.

The governor is after the railroads
with a special message to the legislature in which he claims that the roads owe the state $420,000 in back taxes. The message comes on the eve of the rate commission bill
which is now before the senate and bears the earmarks of a political dodge. The railroads deny the charge
and the matter will doubtless be settled in the courts. The governor is the busiest man in the state. How can we spare him?

The Gazette is glad to note that
the Rock County Banner, of Clinton,
is on the list of Cuban Bitters for a case of wine. A good temperance paper like the Banner can doubtless
find use for such a present.

Castro has not yet fully decided
just when to begin his invasion of the United States.

Taft has gotten off the San Domingo
trouble just now and still nothing
arises.

Cuba has not done anything desperate for some months past.

PRESS COMMENT.

Marquette Eagle-Star: The Milwaukee Sentinel puts on a new funny
man with the greatest ease imaginable.

La Crosse Chronicle: Men are like eggs. You can't tell whether they are good or bad until they are broke.

Chicago Tribune: It is well, perhaps, to serve notice on anybody whom it may concern that the public will draw the line at a Nan Patterson cigar.

Chicago Chronicle: Union educators
seem to care more about developing the outside of the head than that which is contained within.

Monasha Record: The legislature
has put in enough time to have earned its pay. But there are some jobs
where results and not time are the criterion of earning.

Racine Journal: All reports to the contrary Mr. Dietz still holds the fort or rather the dam, and is disposed to hold out for what he considers his right.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Did you ever notice that those men who write
the spencerian feathery hand seldom get a chance to sign their names on anything outside of a copy book?

Madison Democrat: Bank stock that has been big game becomes a heartbreaking possession. Stockholders of the First National of Milwaukee learn that sad truth when they delve into their desks for a 66 per cent assessment.

El Paso Herald: A Utica evangelist alleges that Eve was 12 feet high and weighed six tons. And the only reason that Adam dared marry her was
that he was a 14-footer himself.
Luckily all this was before the days
of the beef trust.

Chicago Record-Herald: It is reported that the Fiji Islanders who are to appear at the Portland Exposition will wear clothes that might easily be put into the pockets of Coney Island bathing suits. Portland is naturally looking forward to a large attendance.

Rockford Register-Gazette: Colonel
Waterson in writing from Venice
states that "the coffee served you
tastes like cockroaches and lightning
bugs roasted and brayed in a mortar."
It is not made plain to us by the
colonel just where he first tasted these insects.

Oshkosh Northwestern: It is claimed the native Filipinos are naturally
as bright and quick as the Japanese,
and it is therefore predicted that as
the former have had a fair start
they will make a record that will be just as remarkable as the sudden rise
of the Japs as a nation.

Monroe Sentinel: If a good-natured
man can't chuck a girl under the chin,
good naturedly and without any ulterior
purpose or intention, without being arrested for assault and battery—
why, what is this world coming to?
Men must behave their behoove-
ments.

Sheboygan Journal: Janesville's
superintendent of schools has had his life threatened unless he passes certain delinquent pupils. In Chicago
the public school children struck out
of sympathy for the union teamsters.
Liberty in America is spelled with a big "L."

Madison Democrat: That Milwaukee concern which suffered a great loss through the defalcation of its
president is making a mistake by advertising its troubles widely. The ostentatious and wholesale reduction in the salaries of the employees, if it is reported, and the insistence, if it is a fact, that all employees turn over to the new president photographs and
biographical sketches of themselves,
suggests a panicky, emotional condition
which no bank can afford to disclose.

Exchange: The slaughter of "crows,"
hawks and butcher birds" now going on at Elgin, Ill., looks like an effort to have a lot of sport without running against the game laws. A wholesale killing such as is reported there will destroy more birds than it will those that are noxious. Only a few hawks kill chickens. A large number destroy mice and snakes. For every small bird that a butcher bird kills, it destroys a dozen mice. The crow has been proved to do more good than harm.

Fond du Lac Commonwealth: With 2,500 deaths occurring in Wisconsin
annually from consumption and 10,000
persons more or less incapacitated
from active life on account of the disease, it seems that the time is at hand for an organized movement
against its ravages. It is a pretty well established fact that while consumption in its later stages is fatal,
if the disease is taken in hand at the proper time it may be cured. If by means of a state sanitarium for the treatment of this insidious disease
a few scores of lives may be saved
each year, the money required for such an institution would be well invested.

Superior Telegram: There seems to have been something about this John Dietz matter that was not given out to the public. It now looks as if the logging company had no legal rights
in the premises whatever, and didn't want to get Dietz into court. If the company had wanted a legal decision
there was a way to get one. Evidently they didn't want it, and after a great amount of bluffing they finally tried the scheme of arresting Dietz
by a large squad of bogus United States marshals and scaring him into a compromise. But the plan didn't work and now the company has settled
by the payment of $12,000 to Dietz.
At least this is now a current rumor
and does not appear to be disputed.
It is certainly to be hoped that the war at Thornapple dam is over.

Germany's Exports of Toys.

The value of German toys exported
to foreign countries last year was close to $15,700,000, of which the United States, as the principal customer, took about $4,000,000 worth.
Sonneberg is the chief center of the industry.

Getting Even.

A New York woman is suing her mother-in-law for $25,000. This is practical. A man who disliked his mother-in-law to that extent would foolishly make jokes about her and
think he was getting square.—Buffalo

PANHANDLE, WHAT IS IT?

It locates Amarillo and the finest
farming land in the United States,
with rich black loam from two to eight feet deep with no rocks or stumps, and which is admitted to be the finest grass land in America. This the finest quality, the rainfall averaging about twenty-four inches annually, and as it comes during the summer months, insures abundant crops.
The climate is perfect, and you escape
the long, cold winter of the north. It is also very healthy, as the altitude is
from two thousand to four thousand
five hundred feet.

Crops of all kinds are here grown
in abundance, finding ready market at home and at the large center nearby.
The live-stock grown in this section of the country is of the finest and commands the highest prices at the packing-houses at Fort Worth and Kansas City, which are not very distant. Transportation facilities are unlimited, as this territory is crossed
by the three great transportation
lines, the Rock Island system, the Santa Fe system, and Fort Worth and Denver system, giving direct communication with such markets as Kansas City and Chicago, Galveston, New Orleans and the Pacific coast.

Many of the farmers of the Dakotas
are selling their farms and coming to the Panhandle of Texas to escape the long, hard winters, and secure better lands, which we are offering at from three to eight dollars per acre. You may be surprised at this exceptionally low price, but it is from the fact that hundreds of thousands of acres
were purchased by a syndicate a few years ago and they are now offering it
at a fair profit, and you are not called upon to pay the price of your land for the maintenance of a large office and salaries at Chicago,
Kansas City and other large centers,
but you buy it direct. If you are interested in a home or an investment
which will double in value in a short time call on us at Park Hotel, Janesville, every Wednesday and Saturday, 1 to 5 p. m., or drop us a card and we will make you a personal visit. We have excursions leaving on the 2nd
and 3rd Tuesday of each month and we would like to have you arrange to accompany us on one of them, for
we are sure that you will verify our statements, after being on the ground.

CRUEL TOWARD
INSANE PEOPLE

Vice and Immorality So Brazen That
Even the Poor Demented Creatures Beg to Be Removed From Their Contaminating Influences.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 18.—The report of the joint committee of the legislature appointed to investigate the conditions at the asylum for the in-
gent insane at Chattahoochee, Fla.,
has created a sensation. It accuses officials, attendants and nurses of cruelty toward patients and drunkenness
while on duty.

"No systematic effort whatever has been made or treatment given for the restoration of the mind," says the report. "The sick and afflicted have not been given the necessary medicine or other attention due and needful for their cure or restoration. Evidence is before the committee that the management has been cruel, negligent and heartless in some instances." Attendants and nurses have been drunk
while on duty and have been brutally
and inhumanly cruel to helpless inmates.

Vice in State Institution.

"In some instances" the very atmosphere of the institution has been scented with vice and immorality to the extent that even inmates have begged and pleaded to be released on account of it and citizens living near
by have felt outraged by it.

"Reports of misappropriation of the state's money and effects have come to the committee. No accurate system of accounts has been kept, and from
the observation of the method of purchase and disbursement the committee
is forced to the belief that some money and effects did not go to the use and benefit of the institution.

Conditions Are Inexcusable.
It is with serious regret that duty
compels the committee to maintain
and so present that the board of state institutions is very largely responsible and should be so held for the deplorable conditions, the inexcusable
and unpardonable evils that have existed in and about the institution—responsible to those poor helpless, unfortunate inmates who have been caused
to suffer the pangs of hunger, the humiliation and pain of keen cuts of the lash, the taint of the fist, the stamp of the foot, the unknown and untold
physical suffering and mental anguish
caused by the willful, wanton neglect
of the management and attendants.

Suspect Cruelty Killed Patients.
While the evidences is not absolutely clear that such cruelty and failure of duty caused death, it is sufficiently clear to create suspicion of such being true.

The board of state institutions is composed of the governor and members of his cabinet. The conditions to which the committee calls attention
are not chargeable to the present governor, since he has been seated only since January. The former governor was William S. Jennings.

SMALL GAIN FOR THE BOWER CITY

GOVERNMENT DOES NOT DO THE CITY JUSTICE.

BUT BELOIT MAKES A GAIN

Milwaukee Still Leads the State by Several Thousand in the Total Count.

ESTIMATED CENSUS.

Milwaukee	321,450	Eau Claire	17,557
Superior	35,175	Appleton	16,373
Racine	32,528	Fish Lake	16,346
La Crosse	30,471	Koshong	14,382
Oshkosh	24,421	Konosha	14,181
Sheboygan	24,421	Janesville	14,125
Madison	24,421	Wausau	13,554
Green Bay	20,628	Manitowish	13,194
Marquette	18,063	Beloit	12,034

Janesville's Place. It will be noted by these figures that Janesville has only increased in population nine hundred and forty in the past five years. The census of 1900 gave Janesville a total population of 13,185, while the present figures only place the estimated population at 14,125. It is, however, thought that when the census is actually taken Janesville will show a much larger gain than is now estimated. Beloit has taken strides ahead and is credited with a gain of over two thousand, and it is safe to say that it will be almost even with Janesville when the figures are all in. At the present time Janesville stands fifteenth in the list of cities in the state, with Milwaukee leading.

How Estimate Is Made. The present government estimate should not be taken as in any sense strictly accurate. The census bureau does not pretend that it is anything more than a guess based on the trend of growth of the various cities. There is no provision for taking a census of the various cities between the decennial periods, but the law requires the census bureau to make an estimate, or guess, of the population of certain cities of the larger class during the "off years."

The Rules. The rule by which the census bureau obtains its estimates is so simple that anyone can apply it with a little figuring. No agents are sent out and no statistics are collected. The bureau learns from its statistical tables, based on the censuses of 1890 and 1900 what the population of a certain city was in those days. By a little computation it finds what the increase or decrease of population was during those ten years. This increase or decrease is divided by ten and in this way is found the average annual increase or decrease. This average annual increase or decrease is added to or subtracted from the case may be, the census bureau's estimate of the population of that city for 1904 and this gives the bureau's estimate of the population of the city for 1905.

ANSWERS CRITICISM OF A "FIRECRACKER"

Business Men of the City Are Alive to the Proposition of Securing Circus.

In answer to the "Firecracker" which sizzled in yesterday's Kicker's Column the Gazette is asked to tell the general public that everything that can be done has been done to bring the Forepaugh-Sells circus here for their winter quarters. Two delegations of Janesville men, representing the city, have visited the Ringlings and laid the proposition Janesville has to offer before them. Mr. A. P. Burnham and Mr. David Walt spent a Sunday with the Ringlings while their show was in Chicago and received a promise that when the time came to settle upon winter quarters Janesville would be considered. In fact, in the minds of several of the gentlemen who have talked with the Ringlings regarding the matter, Janesville was most favorably thought of.

A NUT TO CRACK IS HEREWITH PRESENTED

E. E. Van Pool Writes a Communication to The Gazette Relative to Building.

To the Editor: I noticed in last night's Gazette a list of the different bidders on the new M. E. church building and their bids. The individual bids on separate parts of the building were omitted. These separate bids were advertised for, and received by the building committee, and should have appeared with the others. James Shearer's bid on mason work was $16,072. My bid on carpenter work and structural steel was $14,200. These two bids taken together amount to $30,272, just $223 above the Beloit firm. If it was wise to let the contract to out-of-town people for a saving of $200, when the people of Janesville are asked to pay for the building, we will leave it to the public to determine.

Respectfully,
E. E. VAN POOL.

ENCOUNTER WITH A LONE HIGHWAYMAN

Mrs. Fred Day and Mrs. Brown Fleck Had an Unpleasant Experience Last Evening.

Mrs. Fred Day and daughter, Mrs. Brown Fleck, encountered a lone highwayman at the corner of South Main and South Second streets at ten o'clock last evening. The man was a youth of about twenty-two years, rather tall, and wore a light soft hat. When the two ladies left South Main street and started to cross the park they noticed a stranger walking ahead of them but discovered nothing in his manner to excite suspicion until, as they reached the William Ringer residence he suddenly wheeled about, snatched the pocket-book which Mrs. Day was carrying in her hand, and fled. As soon as they had recovered from their astonishment and fright, the two ladies hastened to their home on South Third street and telephoned for the police. Officers Brown and Fanning responded to the call and rounded up the neighborhood and places where it seemed likely that the thief had secluded himself, without result. There was only a little small change in the pocket-book.

During the early morning hours Officer Morrissey arrested a suspect by the name of Edward Reichel, who corresponded in a general way to the description given of the highwayman. The man was sleeping in a shed on the east side of the river. He said that he had walked in from Beloit yesterday afternoon. His former home had been in Whitewater. The two ladies were requested to come to the police station this afternoon and see if they could identify him. At three o'clock they had not appeared.

SEALING VESSEL CREW IN URUGUAY PRISON

Canadian Ship Is Seized for Violating the Laws, the Officers Being Given Penal Sentences.

Halifax, N. S., May 18.—The Nova Scotia sealing schooner Agnes G. Donahoe, with her outfit and cargo of 400 seal skins, has been confiscated by the Uruguayan government for alleged violations of the country's laws. Capt. Ryan was sentenced to three years; William Ryan, first mate, and Williams Perrier, second mate, to two years each, and members of the crew to six months each penal servitude.
Cittawa, Ont., May 18.—R. L. Borden brought up in the house Wednesday the seizure of the sealer Agnes G. Donahoe by the government of Uruguay for alleged seal poaching in territorial waters. The owners claim the vessel was seized on the high seas. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the premier, said in reply that all the government could do was to make representations to the British government.

FORMER RESIDENT SEEKS THE OFFICE

Ex Mayor Crolius of Joliet, Claims Gross Fraud Caused His Defeat.

Former Mayor Crolius of Joliet, who has been in the public limelight for the past two years, again appeared at the front of the stage with a petition to the city fathers for a recount of the votes in the recent city election, which brought about his defeat. Mr. Crolius is evidently in earnest and makes all sorts of charges against the methods by which he was counted down and out. Eleven charges covering frauds of every kind are made against the judges and clerks and supporters of Mayor Barr. In his petition Mr. Crolius says among other things a count of the votes will show he received a plurality of all votes cast, that gross errors were made in counting; that many votes cast for him for mayor were rejected by the judges and not counted at all; that judges and clerks were guilty of the most high-handed frauds; that ballots were taken outside of polling places and taken in and voted in place of the regular ballots handed the voters by the judges. No specific charges are made as to who the fraudulent voters were or in what particular wards or precincts the alleged frauds and mistakes took place.

An Animal Story For Little Folks

The Tree Climbing Camel

Charles Henry Camel was one of the most progressive animals in all the realm of the king of beasts. He was not satisfied to accept things as he found them, but constantly aimed to put himself in a better position. And this is a very commendable trait at most times.

So when Charles Henry heard that the circus parade was going to pass his way he decided that he would climb a tree and view the long line of cages and the brass bands which would be in the procession from this elevated standpoint. He had never climbed a tree, but he thought if others could he could too.

Therefore when the first blare of trumpets was heard afar off he set his forefoot against a scumore and tried to draw himself up into the branches. His feet slipped, and as a reward he received a sound bump on the nose. He tried again and got another bump. All this time the sound of music and of rumbling cages grew nearer, and Charles Henry made a mighty effort and succeeded in drawing himself about half way to a lower limb.

Then came the parade, and Charles Henry, who only kept his position with the greatest effort, gazed down in satisfaction. But as the second band passed the poor old camel found he could hold on no longer, and down he dropped.

Boom, boom, kerplunk! He went square into the middle of the big bass drum. And then you may be sure there was trouble. Poor Charles Henry was set upon by the whole circus and was beaten and belaid until he was black and blue—Worcester Post.

Michael Finneran was arrested last evening on his farm in the town of Magnolia on the charge of assault and battery preferred by his wife, who charges him with beating her over the head with a pitchfork and misusing her in other cruel and inhuman ways. At the same time a summons was served on him to defend himself in a divorce action. Finneran appeared in municipal court this morning and pleaded not guilty. The case was adjourned until June 2.

MISS ANNA BRUMMOND AND FRANK MILLER ARE WEDDED

Ceremony Performed By Rev. Christy At the English Lutheran Church—Elaborate Supper.

Miss Anna Brummond and Frank Miller were united in the bonds of marriage yesterday. The ceremony was performed at half past two o'clock in the afternoon at the English Lutheran church by Rev. W. P. Christy. The happy pair were attended by Miss Lizzie Brummond, a sister of the bride, and Mr. Miller, a brother of the groom. About a hundred and twenty-five guests were present at the marriage supper which was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brummond, a mile east of the city on the Milwaukee road. In the evening a dance was held, Rehfeld's orchestra furnishing the music. The affair came to a close at an early hour this morning. The contracting parties are both well-known and popular young people and the extent of the esteem in which they are held was evidenced by the many and costly gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Miller will make their home in this city, Mr. Miller being an employ of the Janesville Sash & Door company.

GOOD ATTENDANCE FOR "EAST LYNNE"

Old Classic Was Put On at the Myers Theatre Last Evening by a Capable Company.

There was a very good attendance at the performance of "East Lynne" given at the Myers theatre last evening and the spectators were well pleased with the offering. Miss Mura Bond made an admirable "Barbara Hare," exhibiting in the shadings of a very pleasing voice a fine conception of the part. William Grigg was also very good as "Sir Francis Levison," though some of his interpolated "asides" such as "I've got her!" and "She's mine!" and accompanying winks at the audience in the more intense situations added nothing to the play's effectiveness. Harry Brown was fair as "Archibald Carlyle" and Miss Freda Clements sufficiently "emotional" in the part of "Lady Isabel." The support was uniformly good.

WEDDED MONTHS AGO, BUT FEW KNEW OF IT

Mrs. Ernest Heller, Nee Maude Crow, Leaves for Pueblo, Colorado, to Join Her Husband.

Only a few of the nearest relatives and confidantes have shared the secret which "Miss Maude Crow" has been sedulously and successfully guarding for the past seven months and it may be surmised that there was a flutter among her many warm friends this morning when she announced that as Mrs. Ernest S. Heller she would take her departure at six o'clock this evening for Pueblo, Colorado, there to join her husband who has been holding a responsible position with one of the western express companies since their marriage at Rockford, Ill., on the fourth of last October. Mr. Heller, it will be remembered, was with the U. S. Express Co. in Janesville for several years and went west primarily for the benefit of his health. He took his departure for his present abiding place immediately after the quiet ceremony in the Forest City. Mrs. Heller has continued her work as a stenographer in the office of A. A. Jackson until very recently and has no doubt highly enjoyed the little joke on her friends and acquaintances. She is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Crow of this city. Very late congratulations and wishes for much happiness for both will follow her on her journey westward.

CURRENT NEWS NOTES.

Bullet in His Ankle: The 17-year-old son of Martin Anderson, south of Milton, put a bullet in his ankle while hunting Sunday. He carried a 22 rifle which was accidentally discharged when he stumbled over brush. He was brought at once to Dr. Binnewies' office. The X-ray revealed the bullet lodged in the ankle-joint. The wound was dressed and the chances are he will recover without becoming a cripple.

Confiscated Eight Nets: Game-Warden Peter Drafahl was in the city today. He recently confiscated eight nets at Jefferson and will make a call on the owners in a day or two.

Auto Struck Bike: In whirling on South River street at the Milwaukee street corner this afternoon an automobile driven by unknown parties ran into a small boy who was just turning onto Milwaukee street with a bicycle. The rider took a bad header and the wheel went a flying, while the auto party sped merrily along, not stopping to investigate as to the possible damage done to life and limb. The youth escaped unhurt.

Champions Heavy Hitters

New York Nationals Have Sensational "Sluggers" In Donlin, McGann, Bresnahan, Devlin and Mertes -- Pitcher Mathewson Can Bat Too.

The champion New York Nationals have five of the leading batsmen of the league. They are Mike Donlin, Arthur Devlin, Dan McGann, Roger Bresnahan and "Sandy" Mertes.

Donlin and Devlin are two of the most reliable "pinch" hitters in the major leagues. They are always ready to "deliver the goods" when a single or a double is needed to bring in the winning run.

MIKE DONLIN, WHO HEADS CHAMPIONS BATTING ORDER.

The New York champions have become famous for winning games by a narrow margin in the last two or three innings. The five men named, and Donlin and Devlin in particular, are directly responsible for this habit into which the tribe of McGraw has fallen.

Donlin was second in the National league batting column last year. Mains Wagner, the Pittsburgh shortstop, was the only man to "top" him. Donlin's average was .320, and from the present outlook he will go above that mark this season.

In a recent game against Boston Donlin was not feeling well and struck out twice. He glowered angrily at the twirler and savagely threw his bat to the ground when the second strike out occurred. When he approached the plate to bat the third time the pitcher smiled tauntingly. Donlin said nothing, but set his teeth together firmly, and with a swift glance at the first ball the pitcher delivered, he took a step forward and sent it "to the ropes."

DEVLIN, THE HEAVY HITTING THIRD BASEMAN.

for a clean three bagger. Mr. Pitcher then learned that he laughs best who laughs after a three base hit.

Devlin is an ex-college man. He is as calm and as steady at the bat as the rock of Gibraltar. No pitcher has ever succeeded in getting him "rattled."

Christy Mathewson, one of McGraw's great pitchers, is strange to say, almost as good a batsman as many men who get major league jobs because of their stick work. With the exception of Leever of Pittsburgh, Matty is the best batsman among the National league twirlers.

Charles Wridgeway, New 1,000 Mile Auto Record Holder--Athletics.

Charles G. Wridgeway is the new holder of the world's auto record for a thousand miles. He performed the feat recently in an all night and all day run at Brighton Beach, New York. Wridgeway beat the world's record for a continuous 1,000 mile run at the beach track by 4 hours 3 minutes and 26 seconds, finishing at 11:28:30 a. m. His time was 25 hours 50 minutes and 1 second.

The best previous time for the distance was made by Charles Schmidt at Detroit, Mich., last year.

Wridgeway's machine was of twenty-four horsepower, and he did not stop his engine once. He was almost exhausted when he completed the run.

Wridgeway had made 200 miles in 4 hours 43 minutes and 4 seconds, and the next fifty miles showed the stop watches at 5 hours 58 minutes and 38 seconds. The time was magnified to Wridgeway and he nodded his head again and put on just the slightest perceptible increase of speed until he had made 300 miles, covering these fifty miles in 1 hour 6 minutes and 4 seconds.

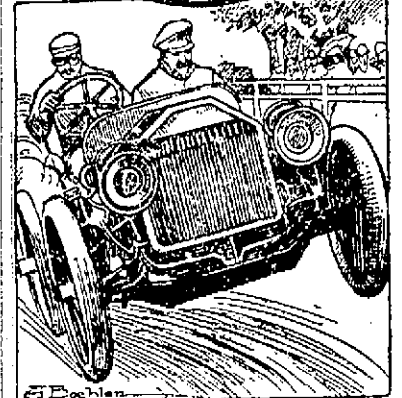

The grinding monotony of the thing wore on some of the watchers, who followed the swiftly moving vehicle with their eyes. It was much like watching a clock's pendulum constantly for hours. Now the machine was charging head on and growing larger in infinitesimal time, now darting past and retreating in a cloud of dust.

And through it all Wridgeway's hand was as steady as his pace. He saved every available inch of ground, making his turns as sharply as possible. Only a couple of times did he stop, and these stops he used to stretch his legs.

Once one of his tires became loose, and as he tore around he pointed to it. The helpers were soon bustling, and by the time he had rounded the track a few times they had a new tire. He slowed down, stopped, and then the helpers were at their task in a flash. It seemed only a few seconds when chug, chug, chug, chug, and the little racer with a velvet purr threw another lap of the brown track behind.

Another time Wridgeway was forced to stop, not only to get a new tire, but also to take on water and gasoline; but, all told, this took little more than a minute, when again the car gave a snort and jumped out after that record that Wridgeway kept constantly in mind.

It was very evident even before the 300 mile mark was reached that unless some accident occurred Wridgeway was bound to beat the 1,000 mile track record made by Charles Schmidt. It was then estimated that the recent race against time for 1,000 miles would be made in about twenty-five hours or less.

The executive and advisory committees of the Intercollegiate Association of Amateur Athletes of America met in Philadelphia recently and discussed among other things a meeting between the western and eastern track champions. F. B. Ellis, graduate manager of the Intercollegiate games and also manager of the University of Pennsylvania relay meet, was the originator of this idea.

His plan was to hold the intercollegiate championships and the conference track meet on the same day, and then the first and second men in each event in both meets compete a week later. The result of this meet would determine the champions of America. It was the idea to have the eastern team go west the first year and then have the westerners come east in the following year.

There is little likelihood of the project going through this year, as both associations have already arranged for their championship meetings.

Timely Baseball Gossip

Peculiar Showing of the Cleveland Team. Hard Luck For Hughey Jennings of Baltimore and Frank Chance of the Chicago Nationals.

The Clevelanders of the American league have been making a peculiar showing ever since the season opened. Nearly all of their games have been shut-outs, with the slugging Napoleons suffering no less than seven shut-outs--a wonderful record for a bunch of heavy hitters, but a further testimonial to the effectiveness of the pitchers when they can use the spit ball.

Such light batting as has been indulged in by three teams like Cleveland, St. Louis and Detroit so early in the season has never been known before, and Cleveland carries off the honors for the year so far for being the team to be "Chicagoed" the greatest number of times and also for being in the hardest luck. No wonder President Kilgore remarked recently, "I tell you this is going to be a hard season for the pitchers, but I guess we have a few that can hold their own with any of them."

Manager Hugh Jennings of the Baltimore baseball club learned recently that the blow he received on the left arm at Cumberland a few days before fractured a bone. The fact was disclosed by an X ray photograph taken at the Johns Hopkins hospital. The photograph showed the crack plainly. It extends clear through the bone about two inches above the wrist. He will be out of the Baltimore lineup at least four weeks, so that the bone may knit properly.

Frank Chance, captain of the Chicago Nationals, has had hard luck this season. He was injured in a practice game in the south and was forced to stay out of the game for a lengthy period.

Chance is one of the greatest field generals in the national game, and he plays with all the fire and vim of an untrained colt. He covers first sack for Solo's "cubs" in brilliant fashion. Last year he ranked sixth in the batting list, with an average of .310. With Chance back in the game Chicago will undoubtedly drop down the lead of her more fortunate league rivals.

From Chicago it is learned that "major league players have evoked another name for the spit ball less offensive than the expressive but inelegant title by which it was christened. They call it the ear ball now, because it has all the characteristics of that aquatic article and is harder to handle generally." The players will find it just as difficult to hit it under any title, but perhaps the public will find the new name less offensive.

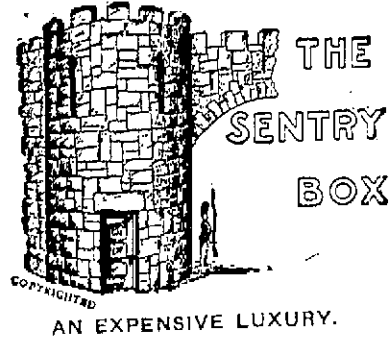

"Pop" Anson, the grand old man of the diamond, figured in a very peculiar and amusing play some years ago," said Dan Collier of "The College Widow" company recently. "The game was between Cincinnati and Chicago, and of course Father Anson was holding down the initial bag. The score was close, and as Cincinnati had three men on the base in the ninth inning with old Eagle Eye Beckley up, it looked as though they would win out.

"Dummy" Hoy was playing a considerable distance off first, and Anson was keeping him on the jump pretending to catch the ball and put him out. The crowd was yelling, and the excitement was intense. Suddenly a black object was seen coming directly at Anson. Hoy saw it, too, and he made a frantic endeavor to get back to the base. Anson reached out and caught the object in his glove hand. It proved to be a bird--a common, ordinary sparrow. He touched Hoy with it, and the man was so disgusted that he turned his back and started away from the base, thinking he was out. In the meantime the pitcher whipped the ball over to Anson, and, despite the frantic yells of the rooters to 'get back, Dummy' Hoy was touched out, this making the final put out and losing the game for Cincinnati."

President Pulliam of the National league is quoted as saying, "More women are attending ball games than ever before in the game's history." This female patronage is having a refining influence upon the game and its exemplars. It is believed, however, that it will not result in so much refinement as to make the game offensive. Baseball is a strenuous, a man's game in all that the name implies.

What the Small Money Order Nuisance Costs the People. The postal laws of the United States explicitly direct that the accounting officer shall correctly ascertain and annually report all the expenses of the money order service--that is to say, the total cost of issuing and redeeming postal money orders.

AN EXPENSIVE LUXURY.

Unfortunately this mandate of law has never been complied with. One reason is that the clerical force of the auditor's office has always been insufficient--another is that some of the items entering into the cost of money orders can only be approximately ascertained. It is possible, however, for those who know the inside workings of the department to collate through official reports and reliable estimates all the money order expenses, and this has now for the first time been done under the auspices of the Sentry Box Bureau.

The following statement showing the cost of the money order system in the postoffice department, covering the real expenses of the issuing and redemption of the orders, is made from official reports so far as they go and from conservative estimates of unreported expenditures: Blanks and stationery for the money order service, $170,000; Blanks and stationery for the auditor's office, 35,000; Salaries for clerks in money order division of the postoffice department, 75,000; Salaries of clerks in money order divisions of the auditor's office, 420,000; Salaries of money order clerks in 1st and 2nd class postoffices, 1,700,000; Commissions for issuing money orders to 3d and 4th class postmasters, 930,000; Loss of money order funds from fire, burglaries, etc., 21,000; Services and expenses of postoffice inspectors engaged in money order cases, 80,000; Expenses of United States courts in trying money order cases, 60,000; 10 per cent of postmaster salaries at money order offices, 2,000,000.

Total, $5,491,000. The only item here included which can cause controversy is the last, relating to postmasters' salaries. There are about 35,000 postmasters at whose offices money orders are issued. A considerable proportion of their pecuniary responsibility is caused by the money order service, and handling the funds pertaining thereto. If there were no money orders those postmasters' salaries could be very properly reduced. Many believe that one-fourth of their salaries should be charged to the money order system, but to be absolutely safe and fair within the bounds this estimate only charges ten per cent of their aggregate compensation to this service.

Now as the official report for 1904 shows a total of fees received for the issue of money orders amounting to a trifle over $2,000,000, it is clearly seen that the loss to the government on the whole service is approximately $2,500,000.

The fees received by the government for the issue of money orders range in amount from three cents for orders of the lowest denomination to 30 cents for those of the highest. Official examination shows that 78 per cent of the orders are of the denomination of $5 or less, and 50 per cent of $2.50 and less. From this statement it becomes possible to ascertain the loss to the postal revenues incurred on the small money orders, which would come into direct competition with the proposed Post Check System.

About fifty millions of money orders were issued during the fiscal year 1904.

On 50 per cent of these, or twenty-five millions, a fee of 3 cents each was received; total, $750,000. On 14,000,000, between $2.50 and $5, a fee of 5 cents each; aggregate, 700,000.

Thus a total of fees received from the 39,000,000 small orders was, 1,450,000.

Taking the above total cost of the money order system, $5,491,000.

We have 78 per cent (being cost of small money orders), 4,285,000.

Less fees collected as above, 1,450,000.

Loss on small money orders, $2,835,000. From these statements it will readily appear that if there were no money orders issued for less than 35 cents, the system would pay a small but satisfactory profit. The average fee received on 11,000,000 money orders above $5 each is 14.5 cents, while the average cost of the money order service for each of the 50,000,000 orders issued is a little over 10 cents. In other words, eliminate the small orders by substituting the post check, and the money order service of the postoffice department, instead of causing a loss of $2,800,000 a year, will show a profit of over $300,000.

Figures like these are of value to our statesmen who are anxious to discover the remedy for the great deficit in the national revenues, especially in view of the postoffice department, which ought, as a plain business proposition, to always equal or exceed the expenditures.

The figures are also of interest to the people at large, who are clamoring for a cheaper, simpler and more convenient means of making small remittances by mail such as would be afforded by the Post Check plan.

Jubal Early's Last Stand

A FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY WAR STORY

[Copyright, 1905, by G. L. Kilmer.]
THE bravest deed of individual valor that came to my notice during the whole war," said the late General Henry W. Slocum, "was performed by a soldier in the ranks. It was at Bentonville, N. C., the last battle of Sherman's army, fought on the 19th of March, 1865.

"On the march through the Carolinas from Savannah toward Goldsboro I commanded the left wing of Sherman's army and General Howard the right. We traveled upon roads many miles apart. That was the stage of the great march which was to unite the army of the west with that of the east in front of Richmond. That union of the forces once effected the Confederacy would be doomed. On the 15th of March we brushed General Hardee's Confederates out of Averysboro after a lively skirmish, and Sherman was of the opinion that Hardee would not stop again until he reached Raleigh.

"Directing me to reach the Neuse river the following day, Sherman left me on the morning of the 18th to John Howard. At that moment there were some skirmishing and light cannonading on my front, but Sherman thought it trivial, for he said that I had nothing to oppose me but a little cavalry. The Confederate skirmishers soon gave way, and I sent an aid to ride after Sherman and tell him that I should not need assistance, but would be at the Neuse river on time.

"Just about that time one of my officers brought before me a young man dressed in Confederate gray. He was haggard and sickly looking, the reason for which was soon made known. He had been very anxious to see me, and after much begging on his part his guardians had granted him. In answer to my questions he said he had originally been in the Federal army; that while on a scouting expedition he had been captured and narrowly missed summary death as a spy. To save his life, or at least escape the horrors of a prison dungeon, he had enlisted in the Confederate service with the intention of deserting to his own at the first chance.

"I had met such characters before and was skeptical. He told me that he had enlisted at Syracuse, N. Y., and had been in the service all through the war. I was a resident of Syracuse myself, but did not recognize the man. However, Major William G. Tracy of my staff came up and saw in the 'galvanized Xank' a soldier who had enlisted with him in the Third New York volunteers in 1861. His name was John T. Williams. Having established confidence, Williams said, 'There is a very large Confederate force immediately in your front, all under command of General Joe Johnston.' He added that Johnston had made a speech to his army that morning, and the officers had told the men that it was 'old Joe's' intention to smash my column before support could reach it and then go for Howard's.

"Of course, I was sorry I had sent the message to Sherman stating that I needed no help and remedied the blunder at once by sending a second message. This was carried by a boy member of my staff, Lieutenant Joseph B. Foraker. As he started off I said to him, 'Ride well to the right and don't let the enemy get you, and above all, don't spare horseflesh.' He rode like Paul Revere on his famous gallop from Boston to Lexington and reached Sherman's camp just at sundown. Sherman immediately started a column to my aid.

"Lieutenant Foraker had scarcely got out of sight of my camp when the Confederates advanced with terrific force and drove back my leading division. Johnston had under him that day the best fighting army of Confederates in the field at that time. General Hardee's division had been in front of us at Savannah and all the way through the Carolinas, but there had been no fierce fighting. So it was fresh. General Bragg had brought down Holke's splendid division of veterans from the Army of Northern Virginia. These troops had left the trenches at Petersburg the December previous and had been lying idle at Wilmington, and they were fresh.

"There was also a division under General A. P. Stewart from Hood's old Tennessee command, men who had a good share of pluck left or they would not have made their way from Louisiana to the coast in search of more fighting. Besides that, there was a splendid body of cavalry under General Wade Hampton, comprising General Joe Wheeler's corps and the division of General M. C. Butler, that had fought under Jeb Stuart and Hampton in Virginia. The force was about 20,000 men. They fought like an army of 40,000, for their leaders had filled them with the hope that Sherman would be given a crushing blow if they destroyed me there at Bentonville.

"The battle took place in a dense thicket, which was very favorable to me, for it offered cover to my troops and enabled them to throw up hasty breastworks out of view of the enemy. Johnston's guns were well served, and the valor of his soldiers in charging my lines would have counted for more had his columns not been broken in passing through the thicket. As it was, they charged again and again until a late hour. When night came on I had my army well in hand and intrenched. Still I had a strong foe in my front and could not keep my engagement to meet Sherman on the Neuse river next day. The fierceness of the battle confirmed the story of the deserter Williams that the enemy had made every preparation to smash me, and, while I might have ignored the warning and attempted to cut my way through, I thought it was a time when I could afford to be too slow rather than too fast and risk another Ball's Bluff disaster.

"The idea is generally accepted that the march of Sherman through the Carolinas at that time, threatening to come up in the rear of Lee's army along the James and catch it between two fires, decided the issue between Lee and Grant and led to the surrender at Appomattox. That view of the case makes it plain that a blow like the one Johnston would have been able to strike had I not been warned of his presence and continued my march with the columns strong out would have been a terrible disaster just at that time.

"Williams was the hero of that crisis, and he took his life in his hands in more respects than one when he set out from the Confederate camps to warn me of my danger. There was firing going on between the Confederate skirmishers and ours, so that a man risked his life passing between the lines. Besides, if discovered by the southern people while getting away they would shoot him down, and the northerners would do the same unless they understood his signals. It was most fortunate for Williams as well as for my army and the cause that he happened to run right into the arms of an old fellow soldier, so that the identification of him and acceptance of his story did not take five minutes. For his own safety he might better have waited until the battle was on before attempting to rejoin his old friends, if that was his sole object. It would have been an easy matter then, but he was true to the flag and his

"DON'T SPARE HORSEFLESH" former calling of scout. Having learned vital news for the Federal commander, he risked his life to carry it to the opposing camp.

"The dispatching of Foraker to Sherman for help was the next act in the drama, and after a night march Sherman came up with Logan's corps and joined me on the battlefield at Bentonville the morning of March 20. As soon as he arrived we developed the enemy's lines and found them very strong, as Williams reported, but when we began to push things Johnston discovered that he was just a day too late, for Sherman's army was united. He then retreated hastily toward Raleigh."

Two days later Lee attempted to break Grant's hold on Petersburg by a night sortie. He failed and attempted to back off and march south to meet Johnston. That plan Sheridan foiled at Five Forks on April 1. So the game was up for the southern Confederacy. Williams' name does not appear on the list of winners of medals of honor. He was in the service all through the war, having re-enlisted at the expiration of his first term. He returned to Syracuse to engage in business, in which he met with varying fortunes.

GEORGE L. KILMER.

War Motor Car.
 The Austrian war department has just sanctioned the construction of an armored motor car specially designed to carry a quick firing gun, mounted on a pivot, capable of being raised or lowered and turning in all directions. The driver's seat is also so arranged that it can be lowered sufficiently to sink the man below the line of fire. Heavy haulage work, such as that of stores, munitions and even heavy guns, is already done by motor in the Austrian army.

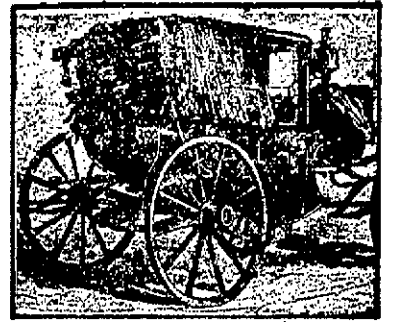

HOW ALEXANDER DIED

VICTIM OF NIHILISTS MET HIS FATE BRAVELY.

Alighting Unwounded from Shattered Carriage, Monarch Was Torn to Pieces by Bomb—Career of Sophie Peroffsky.

Alexander II. freed the Russian serfs in 1861, and this act, giving partial liberty to 23,000,000 slaves, placed an aureole around his head. He was then, indeed, the "little father" in the eyes of his people.

Yet the spirit of reform did not continue to dominate the czar. There were two men in him; one could free slaves, but the other, jealous of the autocratic powers of the throne, could, and did, hang free men whom he conceived to be enemies of absolutism.

Thus it transpired that while the nobles sent the czar petitions for a political constitution, in 1861 and for a house of representatives in 1865 the people's discontent developed to the point of making bombs and plotting against the life of the czar.

The first attempt to assassinate Alexander II. was made April 16, 1866. Another attempt was made June 6, 1867. Both the would-be assassins were hanged, but this only gave impetus to the great wave of nihilism and revolution forming in the Russian capital.

On August 16, 1878, the chief of police of St. Petersburg was assassinated in the street. On April 17, 1879, Prince Krapotkin, governor was assassinated at Kharkoff.

Martial law was proclaimed in the provinces of St. Petersburg, Moscow, Kiev, Odessa and Warsaw. The kingdom was aflame and only the strongest measures kept the people in check.

Nihilists were tried and sentence of death executed on them in all the provinces. Hundreds were banished. Yet revolutionary newspapers circulated and assassinations continued to be attempted. It was a state of war with the people arrayed against the hereditary ruling classes.

Warnings of Death.

In the winter of 1879-80 a reign of terror existed in St. Petersburg. The czar received frequent nihilist warnings that his end was near. But he was courageous and a fatalist. He decided to take his chances with death and after the death of the empress he resumed his old habit of riding abroad attended only by a few Cossacks.

This gave the revolutionists an opportunity they were ready to improve. Their preparations for the final attempt were carried out with great elaboration. All the streets within a certain radius through which the emperor would pass on the day chosen, March 13, 1881, were assigned to the various members of the party. Numerous "volunteers" were posted, to follow the movements of the czar as he returned to the palace in his carriage after viewing a Sunday parade at the St. Michael riding school.

In one street, through which it was thought he might pass, a mine had been placed, after months of patient tunneling from a shop, hired for the purpose, and maintained for a blind as a cheese shop. In this mine was enough high explosives to blow up the street for fully 100 feet when the wires connected with it should be touched.

To guard against failure, should the emperor take some other street, four men carrying bombs were posted at points one of which at least he must pass. These bombs had been distributed to the men at a rendezvous by a woman leader, Sophie Peroffsky, on the morning of the crime.

All being ready, the last instructions given, and the program thoroughly understood by each, the assassins took their posts. The scenes of the assassination were described as follows in a contemporary account:

"His majesty, seated in a closed carriage with his brother, the Grand Duke Michael, drove along the canal toward the palace about 2:15 o'clock.

CARICATURE SKETCH OF ADMIRAL ZINOVI P. ROJESTVENSKY. Admiral Zinovi Petrovich Rojestvensky, of the Baltic squadron, who is trying to find the Japanese Admiral Togo.

The carriage was accompanied by an officer of police, Col. Dvorjetsky, in a sledge, and an escort of six mounted Cossacks.

"As the carriage drew near the Kojushni bridge, which crosses the Catherine canal, an explosive bomb-shell was thrown at it by some person lurking behind the railing of the Michael palace garden. It fell not exactly beneath the carriage, but close behind it, and the explosion blew off the back part of the carriage, which was lined with steel, and did not harm the emperor, who alighted immediately.

How the Czar Died.

"The officer of the guard rushed up to him, and forgetting the customary form of address, exclaimed, 'Are you hurt, sir?' 'No, thank God, I am not,' replied the emperor, 'but I must look after the injured.'

"All this had occurred perhaps in two minutes. The emperor was about to proceed on foot, and had walked a few paces when another young man approached him, and, raising a bomb-shell in the air, flung it with all his force at the feet of the emperor, who was in the very act of making the sign of the cross.

"An explosion followed which threw all the bystanders off their feet. As the smoke cleared away the emperor was seen lying in a pool of blood, his legs shattered and his clothing in shreds. The assassin lay near him, mortally wounded. The emperor, who was quite conscious, was lifted to a sledge, and removed to the winter palace. Here both legs were amputated, but his life could not be saved. He rallied to receive the sacrament, and at 3:30 breathed his last."

The assassin, named Elkinoff, died in eight hours. The man who threw the first bomb was Reesakoff, an engineer student. "He was but 19 years old. The bombs used were of glass, filled with nitro glycerin. They were manufactured by one of the conspirators, known to his associates as "The Technic," or technical expert. He was not apprehended.

Six prisoners were taken for the assassination of the czar. One man about to be arrested shot himself. He was the brother of a colonel in the Imperial army. Of the six taken, two were women, one being a housekeeper for the men, the other Sophie Peroffsky, the inspiring genius of the group, selected to take the life of the czar.

A Fair Assassin.

Sophie Peroffsky was 27, a gentlewoman of high family, the daughter of a former governor of St. Petersburg, and niece of an officer of the Imperial court. She was well educated, having followed the higher women's course at the Gymnasium, or girls' high school, in St. Petersburg in 1869.

In the year following, having imbibed the idea of advocating liberty, she left her home to become a "teacher of the people." In 1872 she joined the revolutionists. She was several times arrested and condemned for propagandism of revolutionary ideas. In 1878 she was sent into exile, but, escaping, she returned to St. Petersburg.

burg a," resumed her labors.

She was the brains and will of the plotters, and it was due to her skill in planning the campaign that the final attack on the czar was successful.

At the time Sophie Peroffsky, by reason of her sex and gentle birth, was the person of chief interest. She held her peace, and carried herself as one ready to die for principle. All six prisoners were condemned to death, but in the case of the other woman execution was deferred, as she was with child.

On April 9, 1881, Sophie Peroffsky went to the scaffold with her four male accomplices. On her last night she had written her mother not to waste time in assuaging the wrath of her father, for what she had done he would never forgive.

Before the rope was placed around her neck the young woman kissed each of her associates in death. She then kissed the cross reverently as it was held to her lips by a priest. Her manner was firm, her cheeks flushed, and she held her head high, even when the black hood was drawn over her face. She seemed not to feel the obloquy even of the black board fastened across her breast, bearing in white the words, "Assassin of the czar." She was the third of the five to die, mounting a stool which had already served the same purpose for two of her companions.

When the stool was kicked from under her the rope fastened on her fair neck, and life departed from the body of one of the most extraordinary women Russia has ever produced in its long record of revolution and violence.

OBJECT LESSON AT HOME.

Clubwoman Devotes Time to Nature Studies and Husband's Clothes Suffer.

"I don't see how you can say I've been neglecting my home and wasting my time attending club meetings," protested Mrs. Dorcas, according to the New York Times. "You men are so sordid in your views you can't see good in anything unless there's money in it."

"Well, what good is there in that club of yours that keeps you from home most of the time?"

"Intellectual good, my dear," returned his better half; "something more to be desired than all the money in the world. For instance, our club has gone in for nature study, and I have learned all about the habits of the interesting little creatures of the insect world."

"You have, eh?" sneered Dorcas.

"Well, all I can say is that if you'd kept away from your old club and studied insect life at home, I would have been spared the shock I received on opening the wardrobe and finding all my best clothes full of moth holes."

SIX HATS OF MODERN MAN

And the Hatbox That Is Made to Carry Them All When He Travels.

The latest thing in the way of hat boxes for men is one made to carry six hats. These include a silk hat, an opera hat, a derby, a soft hat, a straw hat and a soft, roll-up hat for traveling, says the New York Sun.

There is besides plenty of room in the hat box for a cap, also, if it is desired to carry one. The box is provided, furthermore, with two hat brushes, one of the narrow sort to work under the derby's brim and one of the ordinary kind. There is also a polishing pad for the silk hat.

With such a hat box completely filled with all the hats it is designed to contain, the owner is equipped for any occasion, at any season. In any part of the world, this hat box is square in shape, made of sole leather and sells for $25.

Odd Way to Earn Living.
 A woman who was a plaintiff in an action in a London court said she earned her living by lending out silk skirts, hats and feathers to working girls for the holidays.
